Practical Ideas and Strategies

Today's classrooms are more diverse than ever before and we, as educators, are challenged to meet the needs of all students, especially those with disabilities. Co-teaching is a powerful way to meet the academic needs of a variety of learners in today's classrooms. But what exactly is co-teaching and what are the most effective ways to go about it? In this outstanding two-day institute, PETRA NELSON will offer you dozens of practical tips, tools and strategies to assist you in creating a new co-teaching program or strengthening your current co-teaching program.

You will learn how two teachers can work together most efficiently and effectively. Explore numerous ways to differentiate lessons that work best with two teachers and how to best communicate as co-teaching partners. Co-teaching has the potential to assist educators to create classrooms that recognize and address the range of student abilities by using the expertise of both general educators and specialists. Join Petra to discover the powerful benefits of co-teaching and gain a wealth of new ideas you can use immediately.

A Practical, Two-Day Institute Focused on Strengthening Your Co-Teaching Program

Plan to attend as a school team, department team, district team, or as a school/district leader to gain specific strategies to increase the effectiveness and streamline the planning for your co-teaching program. You will learn how to build on the success of your current program, identify the key components that have the greatest impact on student achievement and find specific areas you need to target for implementation and improvement. Leave equipped with a wealth of the most effective co-teaching strategies to help you accelerate achievement for all your students, including students with special needs and English Language Learners.

Develop a Plan to Increase the Effectiveness of Your Co-Teaching Program: Planning, Scheduling and Evaluating the Co-Teaching Process

Discover the attributes of highly effective co-teaching models and how you can start or strengthen co-teaching in your own department, grade level, school, or district, including building teacher instructional expertise and developing collaborative co-teaching teams. During the two days, you will learn numerous strategies to maximize achievement for your students. Ideas and tips for planning, scheduling and evaluating will be shared along with specific ideas to build relationships between co-teachers to create successful inclusive learning environments. You will also receive an extensive co-teaching digital resource handbook to help you implement all you learn.

Here's what you will learn:

- How to maximize your students' learning through effective co-teaching practices ... Implications for your own school or district program
- Powerful strategies to use co-teaching to teach and reach students with disabilities and maximize instructional effectiveness for all students
- Crucial components of effective co-teaching relationships ... Gain practical ideas to develop powerful instructional teams that better promote student success
- Ideas and tips for planning, scheduling and evaluating the co-teaching process
- How to greatly increase continual student engagement using co-teaching anchor routines, supports and instructional strategies
- Professional learning activities that help maintain and grow your co-teaching program
- Real-life ways to find time for planning and monitoring co-taught instruction ... Ideas that will make the best use of the limited time you have
- Innovative ways to keep the focus on rigor and relevance in your co-taught classroom while providing more supportive instruction for students
- Successful structures for communicating effectively in co-teaching partnerships
- Dynamic differentiated techniques for adapting instruction and assessment to reach more students
- Tips for using technology in co-teaching
- Strategies to teach students to learn and work in groups in a co-taught learning environment
- Ways to ensure both co-teachers are fully utilized
- The best co-teaching models to make co-teachers feel valued and useful ... Maximize the instructional impact of both teachers
- Efficient techniques and frameworks for co-planning your lessons so all students are working toward meeting your standards
- Dozens of instantly usable strategies, innovative tips and techniques you can use and share to strengthen your co-teaching program

“ Just outstanding! Petra gave us so much information and tons of great resources! The best training I've attended. ”

Dear Colleague:

Co-teaching is a proven strategy for ensuring the opportunity for every student to be successful. In my years as a special education teacher, co-teacher, coach, administrator, and educational consultant, I have personally witnessed the power of co-teaching to help all students thrive academically and behaviorally. Co-teaching provides an approach that is powerful, evidence-based, and impactful – which is great news for our students and given the ever-increasing demands on our time and resources.

I am excited to share with you outstanding, practical ways to establish or enhance your co-taught partnership and instruction. I want to help you accelerate the progress of students in your co-taught classroom to maximize their success. During this unique two-day institute, my goal is to provide you with numerous strategies you can immediately incorporate into your practice.

We will explore the “what,” “how” and “why” for certain practices and how specific co-teaching models and protocols work better for certain pairs and students with and without specific differences. Yes, there are co-teaching obstacles and challenges, but there are also solutions that acknowledge each learner and each co-teacher as individuals who have strengths, interests, and challenges. This institute will equip you and your colleagues with the essential knowledge and skills that demonstrate how, as co-teaching professionals, to effectively reach students.

I look forward to meeting you at the institute and sharing many outstanding co-teaching strategies and resources that you’ll be able to use immediately to strengthen your co-teaching program and the achievement of students with and without special needs.

Sincerely,

Petra Nelson, Ed.D.

P.S. I can’t wait to share these practices with you, since teaching students with special needs is my passion. And, of course, together is always better!

“I am excited to share with you outstanding, practical ways to establish or enhance your co-taught partnership and instruction.”
