Practical Ideas and Strategies

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is here to stay in our world of teaching and learning. AI generates human-like responses to natural language input making it capable of answering questions, completing prompts, understanding images, creating tables, and engaging in conversation. Just imagine the potential benefits for World Language classrooms! This NEW seminar will go beyond showing you what AI is by providing dozens of tools and resources on HOW to use practical AI tools, techniques, and strategies in your own classroom. In this seminar, experienced world language teacher DARYL BOECKERS shares the best ways to use AI to promote language acquisition and help you and your students to develop essential future-ready skills. Explore how to use AI to quickly create more engaging and differentiated world language lessons; develop and use more meaningful and relevant assessments on the spot; foster greater student innovation, motivation, and critical thinking; improve your classroom efficiency and productivity; and much more! Learn how you can use AI emerging technologies to help your students significantly improve their language skills and embrace the latest ideas for what learning a language looks like. Daryl will share his experiences and best practices with you so you can immediately adapt these ideas to your classroom – any age group, any language, and any language level.

You will leave this seminar with an extensive world language digital resource handbook and dozens of practical strategies and timesaving AI tools and protocols you can use immediately to improve student success in all your world language classes.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Daryl Boeckers

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

DARYL BOECKERS leads by example in his world language classroom. An experienced world language teacher with middle and high school students, Daryl shares his expertise and passion for innovation with educators nationally. He is the author of Using AI Tools and Strategies to Advance Target Language Proficiency (Grades 6-12), the extensive digital resource handbook each participant will receive at this seminar. Recognized by his state's language association for exemplary instructional design and applications in the world language classroom, his interests include using AI tools to enhance language instruction as well as using AI to boost teacher efficiency and productivity.

Participants in Daryl's presentations have found them innovative, engaging and highly practical, with a wide variety of AI applications for immediate use in the world language classroom.

Dear Colleague:

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is here to stay. We see examples cropping up in our personal and professional lives every day. This reality presents an opportunity for us to help our students navigate these new waters ethically and productively, but where do we start? I see two sides to the AI coin: On one hand, there are increased opportunities for academic dishonesty. On the other is a chance to transform standards-based instruction and assessment for world languages by modeling and leveraging these incredible tools. As a world language teacher, I see a great opportunity!

I designed this one-day seminar for world language teachers with a focus on research-backed instructional techniques using AI, anchored in the 6 Core Practices of the American Council on the Teaching of Languages and Cultures. Ideas and strategies learned at this seminar will focus on using AI tools to leverage target language proficiency based on the pillars of best practices: student-centered, authentic tasks and integrated performance tasks, staying 90+% in target language, making input comprehensible, focus on meaningful feedback, paired communicative activities, and contextualizing grammar. I will share ideas for new lessons, steering you (and your students) in creating better prompts, resulting in more meaningful output for both. We'll examine AI tools and resources ideas for any world language classroom.

Resources from the seminar will be shared to a common website chock-full of handouts, video tutorials, and hyperlinks, making them easier to implement in your classroom. All the tools, resources, and ideas I have put together for you will be geared specifically to help you increase target language proficiency in grades 6-12. I'm already looking forward to our seminar day together!

Peace,

Daryl Boeckers

P.S. It is my goal to share PRACTICAL AI tools, strategies, and ideas from my own teaching practice, ready to use immediately in your world language Classroom.

"Resources from the seminar will be shared to a common website chock-full of handouts, video tutorials, and hyperlinks, making them easier to implement in your classroom."
