A Message From Seminar Leader, Renita Craig

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

DR. RENITA CRAIG is an experienced special education teacher and an engaging, knowledgeable national presenter and special education consultant. She is the author of Special Education Resource Teachers: Using AI Tools and Strategies to Enhance Student Learning and Ease Your Workload, the digital resource handbook you will receive at her seminar. Renita has a passion for sharing her expertise with special education colleagues in classrooms and through her interactive and informative professional trainings, designed specifically for teachers serving students receiving special education services. Renita brings skill and excitement from her uses of the latest AI tools to support your practice as a special education resource teacher!

Dear Colleague:

As a long-time special education educator and more recent AI enthusiast, I've discovered a whole new level of unimaginable and innovative tools I can use to support my work! I have found and adopted powerful ways to use AI tools to save valuable time creating specially designed instruction lesson plans, differentiating for all the special needs of my students, and almost instantly creating the tailored accommodations and modifications that really work. Who among us doesn't want to save time on prep and paperwork? I am beyond excited to share all the practical AI tips and pathways I have learned and implemented to provide you with timesaving tools, strategies and resources.

This new seminar on AI for Special Education Resource Teachers will provide you with multiple ways to almost immediately reduce your time spent on administrative work and everyday tasks, place tools and strategies at your fingertips, and immediately improve your student outcomes. You will discover AI tools to increase your productivity in all aspects of case management for students, progress monitoring, and academic interventions, reclaiming valuable time to focus on meaningful instruction with your resource students. We'll explore a variety of innovative AI avenues that can significantly enhance your students' learning while easing your workload!

Please join me in exploring a host of innovative and practical ideas just for resource teachers! I plan to share many practical new ideas. You will leave with actionable strategies and skills to incorporate AI to strengthen your students' learning, enhance your instruction, and boost your capacity to provide more efficient, high-quality special education services.

Sincerely,

Renita Craig

Dr. Renita Craig
