Practical Ideas and Strategies

The role of the school library media specialist continues to evolve. Once thought of as mere “keepers of the books” or presenters of good stories, they are now called upon to be academic collaborative instructors with expertise in developing 21st Century information literacy skills. In this NEW, timely and highly practical seminar, experienced school librarian and district leader Cathy Smith will share how to use a highly effective, multi-faceted approach to librarianship. She will provide more than 100 innovative ideas, practical strategies and resources to increase the effectiveness and impact of your school library program. Cathy will share proven ways to better advocate for your school library to increase community and family partnerships. She will share proven ways to rethink collaborative projects and update library spaces to create a more future-ready, student-centered library environment. You will leave this seminar with a plethora of practical, best practices for both the novice and the experienced librarian.

A Message From Your Seminar Leader, Cathy Smith

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

As an experienced school librarian and the supervisor of libraries in a large district, CATHY SMITH has had many opportunities to work a wide range of students, teachers and librarians. A sought-after conference presenter on a variety of school library topics, Cathy encourages librarians to make libraries student-centered, collaborative environments where students are enabled to be strong readers and users of information. She is the author of 101 Best Strategies to Increase the Effectiveness and Impact of Your SCHOOL LIBRARY PROGRAM (Grades K-12), the extensive digital resource handbook each participant will receive at the seminar. Cathy's presentations are energizing and equipped with a wealth of practical plans and resources ready for immediate implementation!

Dear Colleague:

Extensive research and anecdotal records indicate that quality school library programs significantly impact student achievement. As a school librarian, co-teacher and district level library supervisor in a large, diverse school system, I know what it is like to have difficulty finding time to collaborate, plan, build a collection and meet the needs of teachers and learners. I have had the opportunity to learn, share and study best practices at every level.

My goal in this seminar is to provide you with a unique opportunity to take a look at your present practices and build on your successes. Examples of outstanding lessons, project-based unit ideas, school library redesign, and the latest tech trends will be presented. Our day will be filled with useful strategies and suggestions that will enable you to rethink your current practices, expand student-centered learning and enable you to effectively reach students, teachers and the entire learning community whether you are in-person or online.

More than 100 strategies, resources and tips will be presented. I look forward to "meeting you online" and sharing practical ways to help make your school library services absolutely indispensable. Whether you are working in-person, completely online or in a hybrid learning environment, you will leave with ideas you can use immediately.

Sincerely,

Cathy Smith

P.S. This seminar will focus on the best, most current, extremely practical and student-centered ideas that you can begin using immediately!

"I will provide you with a unique opportunity to take a look at your present practices and build on your successes."
