Practical Ideas and Strategies

It is no secret that today's classroom can be a challenging environment for learning. Many students come to school, exhibiting challenging behaviors that range from defiance to outright hostility. How can a teacher successfully deal with these behaviors? How can educators work successfully with even the most challenging students and help them find more success in school and life? This outstanding seminar is designed to offer K-12 teachers powerful tools and techniques to deal with the most challenging students.

ERNIE CHAPIN, an exceptional educator and presenter, will share classroom-proven ideas, techniques and strategies he has successfully used with his own students over his extensive teaching career. His down-to-earth manner and warm humor will excite and motivate you to take a new look at how to successfully teach today's most defiant and challenging students.

You will receive an extensive resource handbook filled with dozens of innovative, practical ideas to incorporate into your own school environment.

Ten Key Benefits of Attending

Dear Colleague:

I think we can all agree that today, more than ever, educators face a variety of challenges in the classroom. These challenges range from increased accountability for educators to students who come to school angry, hostile, disinterested, unmotivated, and disconnected from society.

As educators, we share many of the same frustrations and have many of the same questions about how to successfully teach difficult, defiant students. These questions often include:

- How can I teach when students are disrespectful, disruptive or disinterested?
- How can I successfully deal with classroom challenges and disruptions?
- What do I do when students “push my buttons?”
- What do I do when I have more than one disruptive student at a time?
- How do I deal with disrespectful students without losing credibility or authority with my other students?
- How can I avoid power struggles?
- When do I ask for help or get the administration involved?
- How can I help students successfully re-enter my class after they have been removed for disciplinary reasons?

I appreciate your desire to experience a seminar designed to help difficult, defiant, disruptive students find more success in school and life. I have designed this seminar to help you not only deal with challenging behaviors when they occur, but also to develop the skills and attitude to make it less likely that challenges will occur in the future.

I have worked successfully for many years with students who are angry, hostile, disruptive, and very challenging. I have designed this seminar to share the ideas, strategies, techniques, and methods I have seen work with even the most challenging, disrespectful students.

Please join me and discover practical, common-sense ways that we can successfully deal with and help challenging students in our classrooms and schools.

Sincerely,

Ernie Chapin

P.S. The emphasis of this seminar will be on practical and proven techniques that are successful with the most difficult, defiant students.

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

ERNIE CHAPIN is especially qualified to present this seminar. He has many years of teaching experience, most of those years working with difficult, disruptive and defiant students. He currently works in a juvenile justice center teaching classes with diversion, drug court and truancy offenders. His success with these students stands as testament not only of his skills as an educator, but also of his compassion and concern for all students, especially those whom many in society have cast aside. Ernie has shared his ideas and message with educators throughout the United States. His audiences consistently praise his common-sense, practical approach to dealing with difficult, defiant students. Ernie’s down-to-earth style, humor and real-life stories make his ideas clear and accessible to the audience. Ernie is also the author of EFFECTIVELY DEALING WITH DISRUPTIVE STUDENTS: Practical, Classroom-Proven Techniques, the extensive resource handbook each participant will receive at the seminar.

Join Ernie for this thought-provoking, practical seminar. You’ll leave with proven strategies that you can utilize with your challenging, disruptive and defiant students.
