A Message From Seminar Leader, Jennifer Benedict Medina

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

JENNIFER BENEDICT MEDINA

has twenty-four years of experience centered around ELL education as a classroom teacher, instructional coach, educational leader, and national presenter. She has a passion for working with educators to fill their ELL toolkits with best practices and strategies to get ELL students engaged and participating in school and classroom work and activities. She is the author of Significantly Increase ELL Students' Fluency in Reading, Writing and Speaking: Timesaving Strategies that Work! (Grades K-8), the extensive digital resource handbook you will receive. You will leave with a wealth of practical, proven strategies and resources you can easily implement in your own ELL program.

Dear Colleague:

Teaching students who are new to the English language and our culture is extremely rewarding. It also brings many challenges to ensure that our second language learners are gaining access to the curriculum and learning alongside every student despite the varied educational experiences and language levels found within one classroom. It is important for every teacher to be equipped with tools and strategies that are effective, engaging and practical so both the teacher and student can feel successful. With many years of experience working with ELL students in both mainstream and ELL classrooms, I have worked to maximize language development in the classroom and minimize barriers and challenges by creating engaging, ready-to-use strategies and activities that work!

Join me for a day of hands-on activities, strategies, writing, and bookmaking. I will model how you can incorporate centers to make grammar fun and accessible. We will look at outstanding resources to build a language foundation in reading, writing, grammar, and oral language. Come ready to get inspired to make readers, writers and speakers out of your ELL students and to challenge your nearly proficient language learners, whether teaching online or in-person.

I can't wait to share ideas that will help you make your ELL students feel welcome in their new classrooms and communities and to share ideas that will re-energize you and your lessons. You will take home many lessons and strategies that you can use the next day.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Benedict Medina

P.S. If you like creative, hands-on, "ready-to-use" activities that motivate second language learners, then this workshop is for you!

'Come ready to get inspired to make readers, writers and speakers out of your ELL students and to challenge your nearly proficient language learners.'
