Ten Key Benefits of Attending

"Jan is a very dynamic speaker."

– HILARY UNGARO,
WORLD LANGUAGE TEACHER

Who Should Attend

World Language Teachers,
Department Heads and World Language
Administrators Serving
Grades 6-12

1. Establish an Engaging In-Person or Online Environment Using Target Language from the First Day of Class

Set clear expectations and establish a classroom environment where students feel comfortable navigating this new world ... Learn how to directly teach your students the language survival skills they need to journey into the target language world right along with you whether you're teaching in-person or online

2. Understand Why and How Comprehensible Input (CI) Works

Experience firsthand how brain-based learning and second language acquisition theory support all the strategies and techniques presented in this seminar

3. Foster Fluency by Presenting Language in the Context of Story

Stories and narratives provide meaningful contexts that can make language more comprehensible ... When learners see and hear the language used in stories from the target culture, stories created for the classroom or nonfiction informational narratives, they see how the language works naturally in the real world

4. Teach the Target Culture in the Target Language

Micro distance learning demonstrations throughout the seminar will model how to teach topics such as geography, biography or history in the target language – even with novice language learners

5. Lower the Affective Filter to Promote Optimal Language Acquisition in Your In-Person or Online Classroom

Learn a variety of strategies to increase the level of comfort and time both you and your students spend speaking the target language

6. Design Activities Aligned with Your Students' Language Skill Levels

As your students acquire language, they need opportunities to use their new language with tasks that match what they are able to do successfully, in an environment that encourages risk-taking ... Demonstrations and examples will show you how to make smooth transitions from language input to language output teaching online or in-person

7. Accelerate Functional Fluency in the Target Language

Learn proven ways to tap into the power of music through songs, chants, choral readings and teacher read-alouds ... Learn how attention to the musicality of spoken language accelerates the development of natural language fluency

8. Motivate ALL Students, Even Your Most Reluctant Language Learners

Nothing motivates like success! We all learned our first language through Comprehensible Input ... CI methods make the target language accessible to every student ... Early success will motivate them to keep on learning more

9. Guide Students to Construct Greater Meaning of the Target Language

As students encounter language they can understand, they begin to better recognize language patterns ... Students will learn how the language works instead of just learning the rules

10. Receive an Extensive World Language Teaching Resource Handbook

Each participant will receive an extensive handbook filled with dozens of practical ideas, timesaving planning templates and a narrative recap of all the seminar's key points ... You'll be ready to increase the amount of comprehensible target language used in your classroom whether you're teaching in-person or online!

Outstanding Strategies You Can Use Immediately

What You Will Learn ...

- Highly effective strategies for increasing the level of comprehensible input in every world language class you teach in the classroom or online
- How to stay in the target language AND have your students understand
- Numerous quick and easy formative assessments to check for understanding
- How you can vary task difficulty and the level of support given to students to scaffold and differentiate their learning experiences
- Engaging activities that lower the affective filter and will help you use the target language almost exclusively from the day your students enter the classroom or log into your course
- Dozens of comprehensible input strategies that foster a language learning environment where all students are comfortable to experiment and take academic risks
- Innovative questioning techniques that will extend conversations by guiding students towards more sophisticated language use
- How to teach grammar in a natural, whole language context, allowing students to get a sense of how the language works versus memorizing isolated rules
- Timesaving ways to organize the learning cycle: create, assign, engage students, and provide feedback
- Sheltered language techniques that open the door for teaching target culture content topics in the target language at any level
- The power of story and narrative contexts to make language comprehensible and increase the rate of language acquisition

"Anything new can be overwhelming, but the way Jan presented CI was well organized and seemed doable. The entire seminar was captivating and enjoyable."

– CINDY CONNORS, SPANISH TEACHER

Practical Ideas and Strategies

You've heard the expectations for today's world language classroom: stay 90% in the target language, engage all learners, embed lessons with meaningful cultural content, get your students speaking and writing accurately but let go of the way you were taught grammar and now adapt your content to online learning environments. Today's professional standards set a high bar for world language teachers. This seminar will go beyond talking about topics by showing you HOW to utilize the techniques and strategies yourself. In this seminar, award-winning world language teacher JAN HOLTER KITOK models comprehensible input mini lessons that will engage you through experiential learning as a novice language learner – the same principles that are easily adapted to work with higher language levels. Every strategy is followed by research-based insights and step-by-step explanations so you can immediately adapt ideas to your classroom – any age group, any language or any language level.

You will leave this seminar with an extensive world language teacher resource handbook and dozens of strategies and time-saving planning templates you will be able to use immediately to increase the level of comprehensible input in all your world language classes.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Jan Holter Kittok

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

JAN HOLTER KITOK is an experienced foreign language teacher and sought-after presenter whose lively and thought-provoking seminars consistently receive rave reviews. She is a knowledgeable and intuitive foreign language teacher and educational leader. Janice is a recipient of her state's prestigious Narvaéz Award for Excellence in the Teaching of Spanish and the Emma Birkmaier Award for Outstanding Language Educator. In addition, the Central States Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages recognized Janice with the Founders Award. Her professional conference presentations have been honored with the "Best of State" and "Best of Central States" titles. Every participant will leave the seminar with a copy of her most recent work, Powerful Strategies for Maximizing Comprehensible Input in the Target Language (Grades 6-12), the extensive resource handbook specifically developed for this seminar.

Dear Colleague:

My professional journey as a world language educator has led me to many places and people at just the right time. Throughout the seminar, I will be sharing the many "Aha moments" I have learned along the way with the hope that these insights will also guide you in your journey. My lessons are drawn from a variety of teaching experiences: positions in elementary, secondary and college classrooms, immersion camps, study abroad programs, administration and teacher training. And now, like many of you, I am adapting everything I do to teaching in an online learning environment.

In one of my "Aha" moments, I was teaching an advanced high school Spanish class, starting a unit on the work of Pablo Picasso and the Spanish Civil War. I asked the class to start listing everything they knew about Spain. Expecting to fill a whiteboard with bullet points, I was flabbergasted when group could barely create a meager list of mostly superficial cultural items. What cultural content had my colleagues and I been presenting to these students in the several years we had them in our program? Why hadn't we been teaching them about the target culture, building a solid foundation of background knowledge so they could interpret and understand deeper cultural content? Why did we wait to teach these topics at the upper levels when our colleagues who teach English Language Learners teach content in the learners' new language from the start? The answer – world language teachers didn't see it as possible.

I have designed this seminar to share with you the very best ways I have discovered and developed over the course of my teaching career to increase the level of comprehensible input in every language level. I will share with you very practical ways to lower the affective filter and make the target language more understandable from the first day students enter your world language classroom. I'll share proven ways you can teach content in the target language from the very beginning of level 1. The strategies I share with you will not only boost your students' proficiency in the target language but will also expand their background knowledge of target culture as well. Teachers of any grade, any level and any language will be able to use these strategies immediately when they return to their classroom.

Sincerely,

Jan Kittok

P.S. I invite you to grab your professional passport and join me for an idea-packed day trip. Leave room in your bag to return with oodles of fresh, practical ideas.
