fabulous!"*

– MARIA SUGRUE,
KINDERGARTEN TEACHER

1. Jumpstart Your Online Time with Your Kindergarten Students

Launch each of your online lessons with teacher-tested quick-starts based on poems, songs, and rhymes that captivate and engage your young distance learners

2. Unleash the Power of Questioning Designed for the Distance Learning Environment with Kindergartners

Strengthen your virtual connection with your Kindergarten students using more meaningful questioning techniques ... Increase the success of remote observations, assessment and evaluation of academic progress across the content areas of math, language, reading, and writing

3. Virtual Play-Based Learning ... Is It Possible? YES!

Learn how to initiate and manage play-based learning with your groups of students in the distance learning setting and keep the joy of learning alive with your kindergartners

4. Simple Ways to Provide a Higher Quality Virtual Experience in Early Literacy

Explore literature activities that teach important skills for comprehension, retelling, phonics, and phonemic awareness that can easily be adapted to distance learning ... Learn award-winning favorite and classic literature titles to share with your students and their families

5. Meet the Needs of Your Diverse Distance Kindergarten Learners

Invite your kindergartners' unique environment and perspective into the virtual classroom with specific writing prompts and innovative activities that meet your kindergartners where they are and help them build stronger connections with each other

6. Strengthen At-Home Learning and Engagement in Math

Learn fun and engaging hands-on math activities and modeled lessons that lead to more independent practice of important early math concepts and skills

7. Incorporate Powerful Brain Breaks for Kindergartners During Your Distance Learning Experience

Explore the benefits to your Kindergarten students and participating family members ... Learn ready-to-use brain breaks that everyone will appreciate

8. Encourage a New Level of Self-Regulation and Independence for Your Kindergartners

Utilize the most effective practices to help your kindergartners move from modeled on-screen lessons to more independent practice in their distance learning setting

9. Increase Authentic Parent Communication and Family Connections

Expand your repertoire of powerful daily activities, tasks and routines that unite the home-school connection and reinforce critical early learning skills at home

10. Receive a Digital Kindergarten Resource Handbook

Practical, ready-to-use materials and resources will be at your fingertips or keyboard with your very own comprehensive digital Kindergarten handbook!

Practical Ideas and Strategies

What do YOU need to make the Distance Learning quality time with your Kindergarten students? During this NEW seminar by Carolyn McMahon, receive a list of award-winning favorite and classic literature titles to share with your students and their families. Learn the value of play-based learning and the importance of open-ended questions to gain insight into your students' learning, comprehension, and critical thinking skills as you "check for understanding." Make every moment count with hands-on materials that your kindergartners will use AFTER the online lessons for extra practice and independent learning. We CAN help our students stay on track academically and socially in the distance learning environment. This NEW seminar emphasizes PRACTICAL strategies to help your kindergartners be successful with Distance Learning.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Carolyn McMahon

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

Carolyn McMahon is a high-energy teacher with years of experience in Kindergarten classrooms. She is a sought-after national presenter who is known for her interactive and highly practical seminars. She is the co-author of several books include the Wee Can series and materials used in classrooms through the United States. She is also the author of the extensive digital resource handbook, DISTANCE LEARNING in KINDERGARTEN: Successful, Practical Strategies that you will receive at her seminar. Carolyn's wealth of experience, passion for young learners and sense of humor are evident in her seminars.

Dear Colleague:

Welcome to our new "classroom!" Here's what I have recently learned: Our Kindergarten students haven't changed one single bit since I began teaching Kindergarten so many years ago! They are excited to learn. They are up to the challenge of Distance Learning. Thinking of where they are today, whether we are online, teaching them in their homes or transitioning from online learning to in-classroom instruction, their happiness, smiles, laughter and excitement for learning hasn't lessened. On that first day of school, let's welcome them with wonderful read aloud stories. Let's use those songs, poems, rhymes and games to make their first day of Kindergarten as important as the last day of school. Each minute we have with our students will encourage us to maximize the learning across content areas of language arts, reading, writing, and math, and include their social and emotional growth with peers in the distance learning environment. After this workshop you will have a wealth of strategies to make this magic happen for you and your students in the online setting.

My goal for this seminar is to give you the helpful tools you need directly from what is working in my own "distance learning Kindergarten classroom," from helpful hints and shortcuts that will work in different settings: online, small group mini-lessons or hands-on, ready-to-use independent classroom activities. I'll model a variety of lessons so your confidence will soar as you embrace the uniqueness of online learning. And, let's not forget helping those valuable home helpers: parents, grandparents, caregivers, family members. How can we help, guide and communicate with them? I will provide you with lessons that your kindergarteners will use seamlessly for guided practice and independent learning. You will be on your way to a quality lesson each and every day.

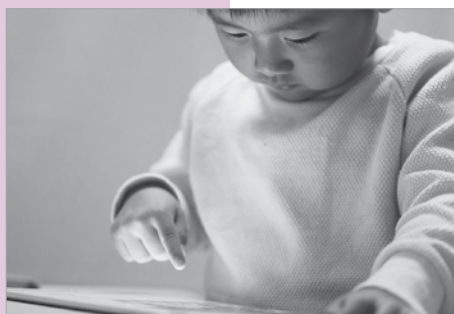

Please join me for a fast-paced day filled with strategies and activities you can truly use in your Distance Learning classroom or transitioning to and from a traditional classroom. Come ready to sing, dance, play, move and share a day packed with laughter, smiles, and ready-to-use ideas!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Carolyn McMahon". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Carolyn McMahon

P.S. Join me as I share my best strategies and tips for teaching Kindergarten in the distance learning environment!

"I will provide you with lessons that your kindergarteners will use seamlessly for guided practice and independent learning."
