Practical Ideas and Strategies

Everyone wants to know how to reach their students who are unmotivated, underperforming and claim to not care about school. This powerful, entertaining and inspiring seminar will demonstrate successful strategies you can use in your classroom or school to make positive changes in your challenging students. Many of us are frustrated with the numerous students who have "checked out," are disengaged, unmotivated, and underperforming. We know the symptoms, but don't always know the solutions. The good news is that there is hope and there are strategies to begin to stop the cycle of helplessness these students experience. Join national behavior expert, ERNIE CHAPIN, in this one-day seminar that will not only cover practical ideas, strategies and techniques to help increase your success with these challenging students, but will also transform how you respond to your students and how you teach. Ernie will give you numerous ideas and strategies to help you guide students toward making positive behavior changes.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Ernie Chapin

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

ERNIE CHAPIN is especially qualified to present this seminar. He has many years of teaching experience, most of those years working with difficult, disruptive students who often display an “I don’t care” attitude. He currently works in a juvenile justice center teaching classes with diversion and truancy offenders. His success with these students stands as a testament not only of his skills as an educator, but also his compassion and concern for all students, especially those whom many in society have cast aside. Audiences consistently praise his common-sense, practical approach in dealing with difficult, disengaged students. His down-to-earth style, humor and real-life stories make his ideas clear and accessible. Ernie is the author of Powerful, Practical Strategies for Working Successfully with “I Don’t Care!” and Underperforming Students to Increase Their School Success (Grades 3-12), the extensive resource handbook participants will receive at the seminar.

Join Ernie for this thought-provoking, practical seminar. You’ll leave the seminar with proven strategies you can utilize with students who come to school or class with an “I don’t care” attitude.

Dear Colleague:

I think we can all agree that today, more than ever, educators face a variety of challenges in the classroom. These challenges range from increased accountability to students who come to school angry, hostile, disinterested, unmotivated, disconnected from society, and with an “I don’t care” attitude.

As educators, we share many of the same frustrations and have many of the same questions about how to successfully teach disengaged, uncaring students. These questions often include:

- How can I teach when students are disrespectful, disruptive, disinterested, or simply don’t care?
- How can I successfully deal with classroom challenges and disruptions?
- What do I do when students “push my buttons?”
- How do I deal with disrespectful students without losing credibility or authority with my other students?
- How can I avoid power struggles?

I appreciate your desire to experience a seminar designed to help difficult, disengaged, uncaring students find more success in school and life. I have designed this seminar to help you not only deal with students who don’t care but also to develop the skills and attitude to make it less likely that challenges will occur in the future.

I have worked successfully with challenging students for many years, students who are angry, hostile and disruptive. I have designed this seminar to share the ideas, strategies, techniques, and methods I have seen work with even the most challenging, disengaged students.

Please join me and discover practical, common-sense ways that we can successfully deal with and help students who come to school or class with an “I don’t care” attitude.

Sincerely,

Ernie Chapin

P.S. The emphasis will be on practical and proven techniques that are successful with even the most difficult, defiant students.

“I have designed this seminar to share the ideas, strategies, techniques, and methods I have seen work with even the most challenging, disengaged students.”
