Practical Ideas and Strategies

How can you provide targeted, engaging reading instruction in the face of a growing gap in your students' reading achievement due to COVID-19? Do you have too many grades 3-6 students who have fallen behind in reading? If so, you won't want to miss this seminar by outstanding teacher, ANNEMARIE JOHNSON. The focus of this seminar is on the most effective, innovative instructional strategies designed specifically for catching up students who have fallen behind in reading. Learn practical ways to pinpoint the myriad ways a reader might struggle and explore dozens of effective strategies and tips for better meeting your readers' individual learning needs. Discover innovative, ready-to-use strategies designed to build independence and motivate your struggling readers to read more. You will receive an extensive resource handbook filled with effective, use-tomorrow ideas, materials, and strategies specifically for helping catch up your students who have fallen behind in reading.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Annemarie Johnson

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

ANNEMARIE JOHNSON is an outstanding presenter, literacy consultant, reading specialist, and highly experienced teacher. In her extensive work with educators and students in grades 3-6, she is passionate about modeling the most effective strategies and best practices for teaching struggling readers the skills they need to get back on track and to love reading! Annemarie is known for presenting highly practical, research-based strategies that work. Her seminars are fast-paced and idea-packed. Annemarie is the author of Helping Your Struggling Readers Who Have Fallen Behind, the extensive resource handbook you will receive at her seminar. Join Annemarie for a day filled with innovative ideas and practical reading strategies that you can easily implement the very next day to help catch up your struggling readers who have fallen behind.

Dear Colleague:

Meeting the needs of our striving readers has always been a daunting task. In COVID, this task has been compounded as many students' reading development was interrupted in a variety of ways. Catching up students who have fallen behind is certainly a challenge, but it is NOT insurmountable! Given the high-quality, targeted, and differentiated instruction they need, struggling readers can get back on track.

That is what this day is all about! The knowledge, strategies, activities, and assessments you gather in this seminar will help you teach your struggling students to be more successful readers.

During our day together I will share powerful, effective strategies that will empower both you and your grades 3-6 students. Some of the topics we will explore include:

- Assessing the ways in which readers struggle (they don't all struggle in the same way!)
- Creating powerful differentiated instruction that meets the needs of all learners
- Making best use of a gradual release of responsibility model to scaffold and move striving readers toward independence
- Ensuring our reading instruction is explicit, engaging, and will stick!

It is my goal that you leave this seminar with renewed enthusiasm and a passion for meeting the needs of all readers, but especially those who have fallen behind. I hope you will join me for a day that promises to be dynamic, fast-paced, and packed with practical ideas!

Sincerely,

Annemarie Johnson

P.S. You will leave this seminar energized and armed with practical strategies to use immediately with your own grades 3-6 students!

"The knowledge, strategies, activities, and assessments you gather in this seminar will help you teach your struggling students to be more successful readers."
