Practical Ideas and Strategies

This interactive and NEW live online seminar is designed for grades 3-5 educators who want to learn new and innovative ways to engage students inside and outside of the classroom. Learn how to create interactive lessons using Google and other Ed Tech Tools. Experienced teacher Jackie Pickett will show you how to foster digital content to create impacting learning experiences for your students. Learn the power of film production, the value of Google Classroom, Docs, Slides, and Forms. These tools, as well as many more, will allow you to unlock new opportunities for collaboration, creativity, critical thinking and communication among your learners. In addition, participants will also learn how to differentiate instruction and develop assessments to support students' online learning. While these skills will be helpful and practical during distance learning, they will increase student engagement and can be applied into classroom communities as well. No matter your experience level with distance learning or these powerful tools, you will leave this seminar with a wealth of practical, use-tomorrow ideas.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Jackie Pickett

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

Jackie Pickett is an experienced elementary school teacher and Instructional Coach, with particular expertise in grades 3-5. Jackie's many years of classroom experience allows her time to classroom-test the tech tools she will share. Focused on finding the best tech tools that are proven to support instruction – rather than adding just one more thing to teachers' very busy days – Jackie shares the best, easy-to-use tech tools for distance learning. She incorporates video making, Google, Ed Tech Tools and more into classroom content to help support student engagement and integration of cross-curricular content. Jackie is a proven expert able to help all educators infuse technology into their daily instruction. She has taken her expertise of technology in education and presented to teachers across the nation. Her knowledge on the topic of digital learning is respected and helpful to teachers faced with the challenge with digital learning integration. Jackie is also the author of DISTANCE LEARNING: Successful, Practical Strategies (Grades 3-5), the extensive DIGITAL resource handbook each participant will receive at the seminar.

Dear Colleague:

Never before have we been asked to tackle a challenge like the one related to distance learning. As educators, we have faced this unique opportunity – teaching outside of our classroom walls – with the determination to meet the needs of our students despite the obstacles it brings us. We have been asked to embrace the world of digital learning and help our students not lose a day of learning. As we think about our current educational system it is important to embrace collaboration, communication, critical thinking and creativity. But how do we do this if our students are not with us each day? Luckily, there are amazing tools and resources that can be used to help our students stay engaged in learning, whether that be virtually at home, or together at school.

In my experience as an upper grades teacher and Instructional Coach for many years, I have successfully used a variety of technology tools to create engaging lessons where all students succeed. I have personally seen the impact of student learning through flipped videos, Google tools, Padlet, and Flipgrid (just to name a few!). These resources have not only impacted my students' foundational skills, but allowed me to create lessons with collaboration in mind. I know they will work for your students too!

I am eager to share these resources with you and am excited for you to walk away with new tips and tricks to add to your bucket of tools. Thank you for jumping into digital learning with me, and I am looking forward to our day together!

Sincerely,

Jackie Pickett

P.S. I have personally witnessed how Google and Ed Tech Tools can transform grades 3-5 distance learning. Join me for a day filled with dozens of classroom-tested, student approved activities that will make your job easier!

"These resources have not only impacted my students' foundational skills, but allowed me to create lessons with collaboration in mind. I know they will work for your students too!"

What Your Colleagues Say About Jackie Pickett

"Jackie is an extremely engaging, high energy instructor. Her enthusiastic and welcoming personality keeps people interested, but also makes them feel comfortable, allowing them to ask questions and dive deeper. She has a wide range of ideas and approaches which she uses to tailor her techniques to any grade level or subject!"

---

"Jackie was able to guide me in connecting the workshop material to my classroom through providing multiple opportunities to interact with the information she presented. She was engaging and knowledgeable, not only presenting her prepared material, but in answering questions we had during the workshop."

---

"It is clear from her presentation that Jackie Pickett is an innovative educator and master teacher. She understands the importance of creating connections for students by making learning relevant. Ms. Pickett knows how to create rigorous and enriching learning experiences by integrating various academic standards in a PBL/STEAM framework."
